

Partners in Stewardship

The Uniform Guidance indicates that all federal agencies will have a framework for assessing the risks posed by applicants before they receive Federal Awards. The Uniform Guidance emphasizes the importance of having strong documented internal controls.

UCSF Summary (click to expand)

The Uniform Guidance indicates that all proposals will undergo a risk assessment in addition to the standard review of the proposed science. The risk assessment will evaluate the applicant institution's history of performance in managing federal awards, compliance records, financial stability, and internal control environment. One element of managing federal awards receiving new emphasis is the responsibility for performance progress reports. The funding opportunity announcement (FOA) will describe the criteria that will be used to evaluate the applications.
